All public institutions have played their part from the career driven incumbents of the Westminster establishment through to Local Authorities, Enforcement Agencies colluding with the News and Media Press. The Banking system elite have again lined their own pockets and failed to invest in long term sustainable business opportunities to create viable employment opportunity for the people of Britain and again from such self-interest and failings the Nation of Britain is heading towards Social and Economic collapse. No Nation can become strong and ensure a future for its people if the very foundations and corridors of the State are riddled with corruption and cover ups where the incumbents are only serving their own interests and not serving the community as public servants. This book charts the early days where a Nation and its citizens cherished the values of decency and community.
